Chapter 80

William's expression was cold. He nodded slightly.

Baxter felt as if his mind had exploded!

Karma had finally found its way to him. After all, he had been so arrogant all this while.

It turned out that the young man in front of him was his important guest this evening!

The Genuine Care Medical Center was very popular around Qena City recently.

As for their funding investment projects, it must be just an icing on the cake for them. The Genuine Care Medical Center was obviously very rich. It was likely that it was only one of their many side projects.

All the investors in the area had been eyeing on the Genuine Care Medical Center. They all wanted a share of the company.

Even the Chens' North Wind Fund was interested in it as well.

If Baxter could reach an agreement with the Genuine Care Medical Center, he would definitely make a name for himself!

Baxter was extremely excited when they contacted him.

That was why he had a few glasses of wine this evening.

Thinking about it, he realized how deadly his mistake was!

William was the owner of the medical center and Baxter had flirted with William's woman!

Moreover, William was also someone Hugo highly respected!

William's identity was clearly much more important than him!

Thinking of this, Baxter quivered.

His legs trembled and he immediately knelt down in front of William.

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry, Mr. Lu! I'm ignorant and have offended you! I'm so sorry! Can you please forgive me and spare North Wind Fund? "Baxter pleaded while shivering.

After a long time, Xena finally snapped back to reality.

She looked at William in horror.

She had not expected this at all. William seemed to have an identity as important as a president.

He had made Baxter kneel down to him!

From her very brief encounter with them a while ago, Xena already knew who Baxter and Tyler were.

Baxter was the only son of the North Wind Fund, who had been domineering across Qena City over the last decade.

Meanwhile, Tyler was Hugo's grandson, a reckless brat who was often being unreasonable.

Compared to the Bai family, they held so much more power. The Chens and the Lins were practically the kings on a pedestal.

However, they had to lower their head when they met William!

"William, my dear William, how powerful are you?"

Xena wondered as she was admiring him from the side. William, on the other hand, was more interested in Baxter.

Baxter had always been bullying pretty girls since he had both power and wealth. This made him not that likable.

But at this moment, he was still thinking about his family's business. Well, at least he was quite a responsible man.

William glanced at Baxter and said, "If you want to apologize, say it to my sister-in-law."

Baxter turned his head to Xena respectfully. "I'm sorry! I was being a jerk earlier. I have made a huge mistake! Please forgive me."

As he said that, he slapped himself hard three times in the face.

Xena was shocked.

Baxter did not hesitate at all when he slapped himself. His face instantly turned red.

Wow, Baxter had put in so much strength.

"I-I..." Xena was speechless for a moment.

Suddenly, William grabbed Xena's hand and stood up. "Come find me after you've learned your manners."

The two of them left the bar.

Along the way, Xena's heart was still filled with anxiousness. She could not believe that William could solve such a big problem with just a few words.

"William, who are you..." Xena couldn't help but ask.

At this moment, William turned his head and looked at her.

Xena suddenly felt a cold breeze sweep over her.

Her brother-in-law was angry.

William looked at her. She shrunk her neck like an innocent little girl. He sighed and said, "Xena, the reason why I show you so many sides of mine is not for you to investigate me, or to threaten me with this information. I've trusted you. That's why I've told you all these things. If you can't keep them a secret and help me to share my burden, then don't get involved next time."

Xena's mind turned blank. She immediately burst into tears.

"William, I know I have done you a great wrong. I'm too reckless. I won't do that again."

William decided to trust her again seeing the remorse in her eyes and her upset face. "Let's go back." He held her in his arms and walked back home together.

On the other end, after William left, Baxter collapsed to the ground.

William's aura was too strong.

He had only seen this kind of aura in two people in Qena City. One of them was from Tigger!

The energy emanating from William was so powerful that he could make people tremble with just a few words. It was as if he could even shake a mountain or freeze the air.

Baxter was a scoundrel, but he was also a shrewd person.

He immediately recalled what William said before he left.

He could still change William's impression of him.

William did not intend to cut ties with Baxter yet.

Thinking of this, Baxter became hopeful and excited again.

He must find a way to please William.

He pondered for a moment before he took out his cell phone and called Tyler. "Brother Li, I now realize that I have offended someone I shouldn't. Do you have any information about him?"

"What are you doing? Don't get me into trouble!" Tyler was shocked.

"Don't worry, Brother Li. If you don't dare to offend him, why would I provoke him again? I'm going to give him a gift. Weren't we just talking about a car yesterday? I want to give it to him as my way of seeking his pardon," Baxter said sincerely.

Tyler knew that Baxter was a sensible guy. "That's good. Remember, flatter him. He won't mistreat you if you can get on his good side. It just happens that I've been helping him deal with the transfer procedure of a company recently. I'll send you a message later."

Baxter thanked him happily.

However, thinking of the Lamborghini that he had just bought for two million yuan, Baxter's heart ached as though it was being sliced in half with a knife. He was going to send it away after only driving it twice.

William was indeed an exceptionally impressive man. His greatness was unparalleled.

Baxter had always been decisive. After making up his mind, he immediately went to execute his plan.

After William sent Xena home, he rushed back to his house.

The lights in the room were turned off. Felicity must have fallen asleep.

William crept into the room. In the darkness, the woman on the bed turned over to him. "You're back?"

Then the lights were switched on.

Felicity sat up on the bed.

She was wearing a light silk nightdress. At this moment, one of the straps had slipped down from her shoulder while she sat up. William's mouth instantly ran dry.

He could never get tired of this view, even after ten years.

Seeing William staring at her, she lowered her head and blushed. Then she covered her body with the blanket and asked, "What are you looking at, you bad guy?"

A scorching heat ravaged through William's body.

He had a few glasses of wine a while ago. His body was fuming with excitement at this moment.

Felicity saw that his eyes were bloodshot, and suddenly her whole face turned red.

She seemed to know what he was thinking about...

She seemed to be looking forward to it too... William was even more attracted to her seeing her flickering eyes.

He shamelessly moved closer to her. Felicity let out a cry and pressed her hands against his chest. "Yo-yo-you stink. Go take a shower since you have taken alcohol."

"Why should I take a bath? This is the scent of testosterone," he replied, his voice low but vehement.

Felicity's face turned red again. Her strength seemed to fade away gradually from her hands that were put on his chest.

She closed her eyes gently.

Her eyelashes trembled slightly.

William had been longing for this moment for so long. He couldn't resist his urge any longer.

But suddenly, Felicity's eyes shot open. She reached out her hands and stopped William from coming closer to her. There was a hint of shock in her eyes.

"Wh-wh-why could I smell Xena's perfume on you?"