

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 316

Sophia nodded while watching Michael leave the room and stared at his shapely bum.

After he left and closed the door behind him, she continued to play her game while listening to the lecturer's live broadcast.

Michael returned to his study to continue with his game and logged into his two characters as well. Both the main and new characters were active in the game. The main character was defeating his wife whereas she was attacking his new character. While that transpired, he was distracted as he was reading the script of the documentary film.

Just when he was having fun attacking her character, he turned with a start and noticed that Nathan lurked in the silence behind him in an eerie manner, staring at his laptop screen.

Michael was shocked, but he regained his composure almost instantly.

It seems like the boy knew about this long ago. However, what can he do despite knowing this?

He calmly beckoned for Nathan. "Darling, come here."

Nathan walked to him and stood beside him. He stared at the screen while Michael opened the back-end warehouse of Scary Phoenix's account. The warehouse was filled with equipment and large amounts of game currency—assets that he had been accumulating over the years.

Michael cut straight to the chase. “Go ahead, tell me how much you want from me to keep your lips sealed.”

Nathan’s heart ached for his mother, who had high scores and low abilities, because she had been played like a fool. Then, he went closer to the screen to point at Michael’s warehouse.

“I want this, this, and this one...”

My dad is the one lying to her after all. For the sake of money, I suppose I’ll temporarily take Michael’s side and I wouldn’t expose him for now.

Michael had been blackmailed by Nathan and lost one-third of his property, but he seemed unfazed.

After he finished playing the game, he swung by Sophia’s study. She had already logged out of the game and brushed her teeth. She was reading the specialized course book on game development in the study while solving questions in the book.

She was working out on the formula while spinning her pen. It had dropped on the floor while she was twirling it, so she bent down to look for it.

However, just when she bent down to pick her pen up, someone smacked her upturned petite bum.

Smack!

Michael loudly smacked her bum. He flipped her nightdress up and pushed her underwear aside before smacking her bum again, leaving a pair of matching red marks across her bottom. He grabbed onto her small bum firmly when she was about to escape.

Sophia seemed to know what he was trying to do and exclaimed, “No! I want to do my homework!”

She was blushing furiously. We are in the study. It'll be inappropriate if Maria sees us in such a compromising position when she serves milk later!

He placed a box of condoms on the side while removing his underpants. He reassured her, "Don't worry, continue with your work and I'll go ahead with mine."

While switching his phone on with one hand, he held her in another.

He went to have a look at the basement earlier. Abel would be digging Cooper's graveyard tonight to steal his bone for a DNA test.

Michael was watching Abel digging the graveyard live on his phone.

More than ten years ago, when Cooper came to my home to boast, he most probably wouldn't have guessed that as the forgettable kid, I would bed his daughter while sending someone to dig up his grave after more than ten years down the line!

She was forced to raise her bum while playing along with Michael in such an embarrassing act in the study.

What do you mean by continuing with my work...

She was blushing when she remarked, "In that case, you need to be gentler."

Michael whispered at her ear, "I promise I'll be gentler."

Sophia's cheeks were flushed red. Her bum was upturned while she lay over the table to continue reading her book.

He stood behind her, watching Abel robbing Cooper's grave while bedding his daughter.

They were both busy with their own tasks.

Abel was extremely capable, but it was his first time robbing a grave. Not to mention, he was robbing his own old master's grave, so he couldn't help but feel slightly nervous about it. He fumbled at the entrance for the longest time.

Fortunately, it was in the middle of the night, so the tomb keeper of the Mitchell Family's ancestral grave had left. Therefore, Abel and the rest of the group were able to enter without any hindrance.

Michael had a headset over his ear for him to contact Abel, who was on the frontline, at any time.

Judging from Abel's video, Cooper's grave was extremely simple. There had been no accompanying burial in the tomb whereas he wore a black suit in his coffin. The body had been there for decades and it had already decayed, leaving only a pile of bones.

"Mission accomplished," Abel's voice spoke over the headset. "I'm taking away Cooper's entire coffin."

"Okay," Michael answered as he was also done with his business too. He was in the midst of gathering paper towels to tidy up.

Abel added, "I am preparing for the second round and digging up my own grave while I'm at it."

"Got it," Michael responded as his breathing was erratic. In fact, he was gasping louder than Abel, who was breaking into a coffin.

He asked, "What are you doing? Why are you gasping for air?"

Michael answered, "I am working out."

After that, he switched off the live video broadcast while preparing for the second round. He kissed Sophia's cheek gently while asking her, "How is it? How are your studies coming by?"

Sophia was blushing while there were sweat beads on her forehead. Her face, which was shiny with sweat, seemed furious when she answered him angrily, “It’s fine!”

He deliberately disturbs me when I’m in the middle of studying. Besides, he is doing it so enthusiastically! I can’t believe he’s actually asking how my studies are going. How else could it be? I didn’t even manage to read anything with him knocking against me while making me dizzy!

Michael lightly drew circles on Sophia’s shoulders with his tongue while planting feathery kisses across her shoulders. She had a rose tattoo to cover the Phantom Wolf’s mark. The tattoo almost looked like it was blossoming with charm while exuding an alluring fragrance.

He whispered by her ear, “Stop studying if you can’t concentrate. Why don’t we focus on my thing...”

It was late at night when Abel arrived at the Fletcher Family’s ancestral grave to dig his tomb.

His wife and his clothes were buried underneath the combined tomb.

As a result of the accident all those years ago, Celine’s body had been completely destroyed and he himself was at the brink of death. He could have been saved initially, but his parents were waiting for him to die so that they could apply for the title of a fallen hero upon his death to bring glory to their ancestors.

At that time, Justin, who had been hanging by a thread, stated his last wish—he wanted to be buried with Celine and did not want to be in the Mitchell Family’s ancestral grave!

Coincidentally, Old Master Fletcher wouldn’t allow his granddaughter to join another family’s tomb, so their combined tomb landed in the Fletcher Family’s ancestral grave.

There was only one body in the coffin—a substitute that Michael used for Justin. However, the objects in there had belonged to Justin himself.

It had been so many years and he could finally retrieve his belongings.

He carefully removed his wedding ring from the corpse.

While Abel was on his way to Bayside City, Sophia was barely hanging in there.

She was already exhausted from studying and working hard during the day and figured that she could sleep after making love in the study; never did she expect to fool around with him in the gym room and in the bathroom while wearing a school uniform.

The next day, Hale had woken up early to prepare the car while getting ready to send her to university. However, when he did not see her out of bed by 8.00AM, he looked up to check the master bedroom's window on the second floor—it had remained tightly shut.

Boss seems to be casually consuming Viagra lately, so I suppose the lady boss might as well forget about attending classes in the university.

He happily drove the car away to hang out with her female fitness coach.

During that period of time, Michael had been filming during the day. When he arrived home at night, he would defeat Sophia in the game. Once he was done, he would deliberately seduce her when it was time for her to revise.

I'd like to see whether Cooper's daughter is more capable or I am! Reality proves that I am much more awesome!