

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 572

“According to my research, the reason Theo was able to wipe out the base that the drug traffickers had built for more than a hundred years in such a short period, was because he had obtained top-secret insider information in advance. After knowing his and the drug trafficker’s own strengths and weaknesses, it only took one shot for him to take them out with the fastest speed and the lowest cost.”

Abel only described the situation in a few words, but Sophia could imagine the scene back in the days. It must have been tough and more thrilling than the spy films one could watch now.

It was a pity that Theo ended up dying due to serious injury.

When it came to the topic of his father, Michael’s expression turned gloomy.

Holding onto his hand, Sophia found it extremely cold.

With a glance at Michael, Abel let out a sigh and said, “You might not be able to accept the thing I’m about to say in a moment.”

Sophia was nervous. She was afraid that Abel would say something that would shake her entire worldview. In a hurry, she said, “Then, let’s not talk about it first...”

“Speak,” Michael demanded solemnly as if he was giving out an order.

Giving Michael a serious look, Abel said in a very solemn voice, “The head of the drug traffickers had a daughter. Months before that incident happened, his daughter brought a handsome young man home and got married to him. On the day of the wedding, the man led his troops to break through all the defenses of the drug traffickers’ base. They broke into the base and took them at once. Half of the family members were dead in that battle, and the rest were captured and sentenced.”

Upon hearing that, Sophia was stunned. An extremely terrible thought came to her mind. Could it be that the live-in son-in-law was...

A young and handsome commander endured the humiliation and used his beauty to break into the enemy’s base. He became the live-in son-in-law of the drug lord. Seizing the opportunity, he constantly sent out insider information to his people. Finally, on the wedding day of the drug lord’s precious daughter, he invaded the base when the enemy wasn’t attentive with their defenses and took them down in one fell swoop...

“That’s impossible!”

Michael’s handsome features were distorted. Furiously, he punched the working table that was made of glass.

Although being an undercover agent wasn’t disgraceful, Theo was a hero and a good father in Michael’s heart. If what Abel told him was true, then it proved that Theo had once betrayed Elizabeth.

Even if he didn’t do it willingly.

But still, Elizabeth was dead because of him!

In a hurry, Sophia quickly comforted Michael. Softly, she said, “That’s all Abel’s speculation. Theo was a commander; why would he have gone undercover personally...”

But Abel’s next sentence shattered any remaining hope. “Phantom Wolf is your half-brother from another mother!”

As soon as that sentence came out, Sophia was dumbstruck. The information within those words was shocking.

So, it’s true that the live-in son-in-law back then was Theo?

And the daughter did not die but escaped?

And she even gave birth to Theo’s son?

That child was the second generation of Phantom Wolf?

Is he taking revenge on his biological father by attacking the Fletchers?

Even TV series couldn’t make up something like that!

There weren’t a lot of people inside the studio. When Abel finished talking, almost everyone in the room looked in Michael’s direction. So, he’s Phantom Wolf’s biological brother.

Staring at Abel in a daze, Michael’s expression was extremely complicated.

Mercilessly, Abel continued, “The previous story was just my speculation. Back then, the drug lord was caught in such a short period because of the betrayal of his live-in son-in-law, but the DNA comparison between you and Phantom Wolf proves that you’re indeed brothers.”

Michael continued to stare at Abel blankly. He couldn’t accept the cruel reality.

After a long moment, he suddenly inquired, “Do you have the photo of the drug trafficker’s daughter?”

Patting on Michael’s shoulder, Abel knew he wouldn’t be able to accept reality. After a few words of comfort, he showed him the photo he found from the investigation.

Soon, a photo of a young woman was shown.

Raising her head, Sophia’s eyes met with a wild beauty. The woman in the photo had healthy, tanned skin. Her hair was slightly curled and she had a toned body. At first glance, she didn’t look simple. She looked like an alluring devil’s bloom.

“Tanya Slovia was only 21 years old when the incident happened. Despite her age, she was her father’s right-hand woman. She’s cruel and ruthless, and has murdered a lot of people. People called her Miss Poison...”

Before he could finish talking, Michael ran out suddenly.

Everything happened in a blink of an eye. Before Sophia could even take in what was happening, Michael was nowhere to be seen. Immediately, she followed suit and saw him go into the gym and lock the door up.

“Hubby!” Sophia yelled as she pounded on the door with all her might. However, Michael showed no reaction. There was a burst of loud music that was mixed with screaming and drums. The volume was turned to its maximum and the punching bag was hit with loud noises.

Sophia was worried. She kept on screaming for Michael.

Suddenly, Abel came forward and patted her shoulder. He said, “You should let him calm himself down...”

Looking at the tightly closed door, Sophia was heartbroken.

It must have been hard for him to accept that...

At this moment, Michael was smashing the punching bag with his fists amid the loud music. His fists were wounded and blood was dripping, but he didn't realize it.

He remembered it...

The woman's face brought back memories of his childhood.

The news of his father's death came to them; his mother was crying alone in front of his father's picture while she mourned for him. Michael was hiding outside with his sister, not knowing what was happening.

At night, the wind was howling. His mother was crying softly, afraid that she would wake her children.

All of a sudden, a pregnant lady broke into his house. He and his sister were crying in fright as a cold knife was placed against his neck.

His mother cried and begged the lady to let him and his sister go.

"Theo's children must die," the lady said.

But, his mother kneeled and begged, "I can die for them."

With a cruel grin, the lady said, "I'll give you some days to prepare yourself."

Then she supported her tummy as she left.

Holding both him and his sister in her embrace, his mother cried all night. She sent them off to Mark the next day.

From that day onward, she never showed up again.

That pregnant lady was Tanya! She must be Tanya!

Elizabeth didn't commit suicide because she missed her husband!

She was forced to death by Tanya!

Tanya used his and his sister's life to force Elizabeth to death!

And the baby Tanya was pregnant with was Phantom Wolf!

Theo had lied to Tanya and killed her whole family. She hated Theo to her core and wasn't satisfied even after his death. She killed Theo's wife and gave birth to Phantom Wolf, wishing for him to kill all of Theo's children one after another.

After killing Elizabeth, she wanted to see Theo's children fight each other too!

Now that Celine was dead, the next would be Michael and Nathan. Even his wife, Sophia, was included in the plan. What an evil woman!
